Dear Allen:

Your remarks at the Quantico Conference provided all of those present with a better understanding of our intelligence situation and the menace with which we are confronted. We particularly appreciate your taking the time to attend these meetings and feel that your presence adds a great deal to their success.

It appears that we will hold another Conference next year along similar lines, and I will try to see that you are notified sufficiently in advance with the hope that you can be present again.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Honorable Allen W. Dulles
Director
Central Intelligence Agency

Moreover, you're a great tennis opponent.
